

WILDCAT

1963

Pittsford Rural Agricultural School

Pittsford, Michigan

Foreword

We, the annual staff, present the 1963 edition of the "Wildcat" to the many members of the student body, faculty, and administration, without whose help it would not be possible.

We feel that as each year goes by the "Wildcat" grows better and better. It is our most sincere hope that this issue is the best yet, although it is far from fulfilling the potential of such a project.

Finally, we hope that each person that obtains an issue will be pleased and will preserve it as a reference to the past.

Dedication

We, the annual staff, dedicate the 1963 edition of the "Wildcat" to Miss Bernice Kieth.

Miss Kieth has taught in and around Pittsford for a total of forty-three years. She is an alumna of Pittsford High School and received her Bachelor of Science degree from Eastern Michigan University.

This dedication is the least that can be done to honor one with such a distinguished record of service and dedication. The following poem clearly describes her tremendous devotion to the teaching profession.

"From early morn till set of sun
Her tasks of love are never done;
She shares our hopes, our dreams, our plans-
Believes in us and understands;
And even when we're far apart
She keeps our interests at heart;
Her life's a perfect symbol of Enduring and unselfish love."

Cooks

It is well known that Pittsford has one of the finest hot lunch programs in the area. This tradition is being carried on by the ladies under the new supervisor, Mrs. Thelma Hoover.

It is an honor for the staff to have the opportunity to thank them for this service.

Edith Andre, Gladys Alleger, Bertha Burkhardt, Emma Clark, Opal Toner, Thelma Hoover, supervisor, and Mae Hale.

Bus Drivers

Janitors

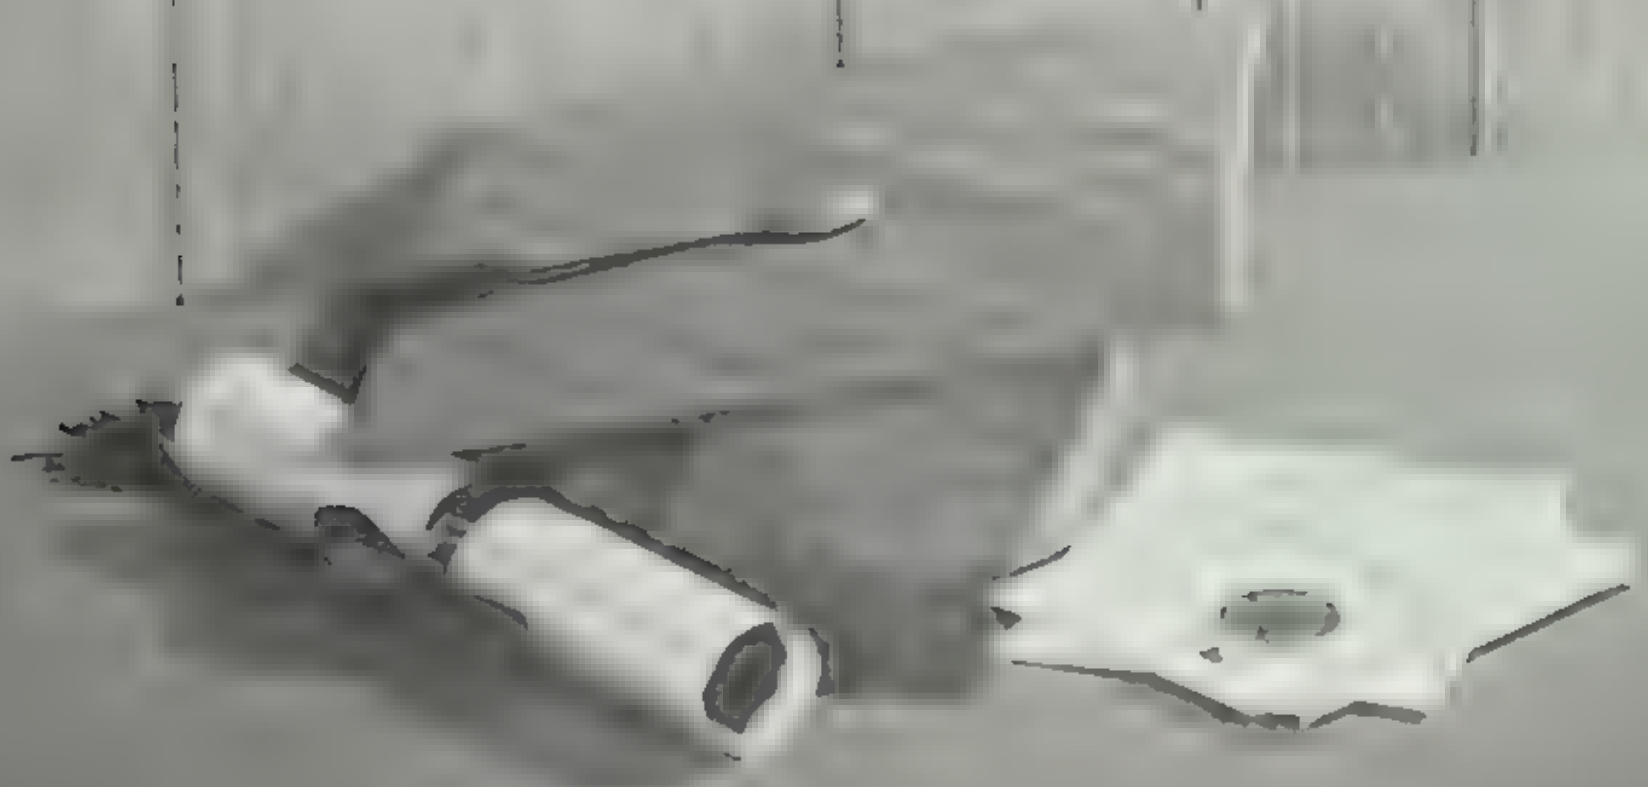

At this time the drivers are responsible for making fourteen regular bus runs plus two kindergarten runs. The school has sixteen buses, two of which are spare buses.

Seven hundred thirty-six students are transported each day. The total daily mileage is about 600 miles. We feel the drivers should be commended for their service.

Cecil Goforth, Gerald Bradley, Carl Brown, supervisor, and Otto Stahl.

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for ensuring the integrity and transparency of financial reporting.

2. The second part of the document outlines the various methods used to collect and analyze data. It highlights the need for a systematic approach to data collection, including the use of standardized forms and procedures.

3. The third part of the document describes the process of data analysis. It explains how the collected data is processed and analyzed to identify trends and patterns. This involves the use of statistical techniques and software tools.

4. The fourth part of the document discusses the results of the analysis. It presents the findings of the study, which show a clear correlation between the variables being studied. The results are presented in a clear and concise manner, using tables and graphs to illustrate the data.

5. The fifth part of the document discusses the conclusions drawn from the study. It summarizes the key findings and provides recommendations for future research. The conclusions are based on the results of the analysis and are supported by the data.

1. The first step is to identify the key components of the system. This involves understanding the hardware and software involved, as well as the data flow and the roles of the various components.

2. The second step is to define the system's architecture. This involves determining the overall structure of the system, including the components and their interactions.

3. The third step is to design the system's components. This involves creating detailed specifications for each component, including its functions, inputs, and outputs.

4. The fourth step is to implement the system. This involves building the components and integrating them into a cohesive system.

5. The fifth step is to test the system. This involves verifying that the system meets the requirements and that it operates correctly.

6. The sixth step is to deploy the system. This involves installing the system in its intended environment and ensuring that it is ready for use.

7. The seventh step is to maintain the system. This involves monitoring the system's performance and making any necessary adjustments or updates.

1. The first step is to identify the problem or question that needs to be answered. This involves understanding the context and the specific requirements of the task.

2. Next, it is important to gather relevant information and data. This can be done through research, consultation with experts, or by analyzing existing data sets.

3. Once the information is gathered, the next step is to analyze it. This involves identifying patterns, trends, and relationships that can help in understanding the problem.

4. After analysis, the next step is to develop a solution or plan. This involves identifying the most effective and efficient way to address the problem.

5. Finally, the solution is implemented and monitored. This involves putting the plan into action and tracking its progress to ensure it is effective.

For example, the Massachusetts Department of Transportation has been successful in reducing the number of accidents on its roads by 10% in the last five years. This is due to a combination of factors, including improved road conditions, increased enforcement of traffic laws, and public education campaigns. The Massachusetts Department of Transportation has also implemented a number of innovative programs, such as the Safe Routes to School program, which encourages walking and biking to school. These programs have been instrumental in reducing the number of accidents involving children on the roads.

The National Future Teachers of America has been functioning for 25 years. In Pittsford Chapter has been organized for 6 years under the guidance of Mrs. Page. We are now working with most of the teachers in the system. We sent representatives to the 14th Annual Delegate Assembly of the Michigan Future Teachers Association near Battle Creek. We plan to take a trip to the school of the blind in Lansing in the spring.

NO MORE HOME WORK

What student doesn't wish that he could be principal? Well, we know one!

When Pam Jones was elected president of the Student Council she had no idea she would have to take the place of the principal and answer a thousand and one questions. Should she abolish homework? Should she keep their star basketball player out of the state tournament?

Before long the entire school is "down" on her. But when the real principal returns everything seems to settle itself and everything is normal again. Well almost.

GREEN VALLEY

Nestled away in the California hills is Green Valley. For a hundred years it has been inhabited by the Berry family. Grampa Berry made a claim to it in the Gold Rush days. Now they are about to lose it to Tobias J. Everheer.

Amazingly, this valley has strawberries as big as a house as high as the house and a cow that gives a kind of milk. Anyone who drinks it suddenly sees people who died years ago.

These people come to the aid of the "Live Ones" and just in time to save the Green Valley.
